The HKSAR Government has actively promoted the use of BIM in major capital projects. Local employers, consultants, contractors and subcontractors are concerned with their risks and liabilities when using BIM. Proper contract conditions setting out the obligations, responsibilities, rights and liabilities of all contracting parties involved are essential for proper BIM implementation.

In responding to this need, the HKIS has drafted standard BIM Contract Conditions which can be used in conjunction with most local standard forms of consultant employment and contractor contract.

In this seminar, the speaker will briefly outlines various contractual issues in BIM including (1) priority of contract documents, (2) obligations of project participants, (3) centralized electronic document management system, (4) digital data and BIM management, (5) BIM execution plan, (6) use of the models, (7) intellectual property rights of the models, etc. Comparison is also made with the BIM contracts in the United States and United Kingdom while, at the same time, highlighting some international best practices.
